The Superior Sex.

Men have been boasting so long of their superiority, mental and physical, over women, that we reprint the following remarks from the Chicago Post, in order to show his real weakness:

"Take a man and make him wear a spotted veil and he will be nearly blind within a year.
"Pinch a man into corsets and within a week, he will have heart trouble, chronic pleurisy, acute indigestion, appendicitis and a funeral.
"Pile a few pounds of false hair on a man's head and he will succumb to brain fever within a month.

"Tie a man's ankle in a couple skirts and he will have rheumatism, followed by paralysis of the legs from lack of exercise.

"Cramp a man's feet in tight shoes and make him toddle about on high heels and he will die of the charley-horse.

"Man loses on the score of endurance alone. Intellect and executive ability are argued by the capacity to combat these tortures and trials. Man is undoubtedly the inferior sex and should retire to the last row of seats and be quiet.

Use of the Tail.

Very few people ever stop to observe what very useful things animals' tails are to their owners. Horses, cows and other creatures use their caudal appendages as fly flappers. Cats, squirrels and many more twist them around their necks for comforters. The rat has raised the use of his tail to a fine art, for by its means it guides the blind and steals jelly, oil and cream out of jars and bottles. The raccoon catches crabs with its tail, and the monkey finds his tail a valuable asset in swinging its way through his native forests. Fish steer their way by means of their tails; antelope uses his bushy tail as an umbrella, while the vanity of the peacock is fed by the beauty of its tail feathers.

Snake Kills Chickens.

One evening last week about 8:30 o'clock while J. D. Stutz and family were sitting on their back porch they heard a hen and chickens make a great commotion in the wood house. On examination they found a six foot black snake had five young chickens, about the size of quail, tightly embraced in his coils. The old mother hen was fighting the snake for dear life, and before Mr. Stutz could hit the snake it had squeezed several of the chickens to death. The snake had entered the wood house and coiled itself around the old hen and her brood, but only caught five of them in the trap. It was a vicious rascal and showed fight, Falmouth Outlook.

Make War Against Worry.

Bismarck said, "During my whole life I have not had 24 hours of happiness." Anxiety constantly racked him to weariness.

Andrew Carnegie said the other day: "I know few millionaires who smile." The impossibility of throwing off his worry hastened the death of E. H. Harriman.

Worry, not work, is killing people. The brow wrinkle of the anxious business man foretells a shortened life.

The great John Wesley declared: "I dare no more fret than I dare curse and swear."

Franklin advised: "Do not anticipate trouble or worry about what may never happen. Keep in the sunlight."

Gladstone was once asked how he could carry the great burdens of his life without worry, and to answer, took the inquirer to his bed room to see the motto that he said faced him every morning. It was a Bible verse: "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee," because he trusted in Thee.

The Last Chance!

This is the last time we will be able to request any one who has not had the matter of our Big Industrial Edition explained to them to phone this office so that our representative can see them.

After the edition is published we feel confident that the few not represented will regret it. This is why we print this article. Again we desire to call the attention of the various pastors in the city to the fact that they will wish their cuts, and the cuts of their churches used in this edition that the cuts or photographs may be sent to this office without delay.

We also urge the City Council to have their group photograph, including all the city officials taken at once. To all others who wish to use cuts of themselves, their places of business or their residences in this Big Industrial Edition, we suggest that they attend to the matter immediately. If you have no cuts, then have photographs taken at once. We have arranged with McGaughey, the Photographer, to take all photographs at a moderate cost. Telephone him to come and take the picture.

Our edition will reach between twelve and fifteen thousand copies. It will be printed upon fine paper and handsomely illustrated, and without doubt, will be the most comprehensive Industrial Edition ever published in Central Kentucky. We want your aid in the matter, and you cannot help us better than by giving attention to what we ask in this article.

The publishing of an edition of this size and kind is a big undertaking for any newspaper, and we intend to do it right, but if you neglect the obtaining of your cuts or photographs until it is too late, you must not blame The Climax if they fail to appear in the edition, for we are now preparing for publication as rapidly as possible.

Wednesday the Pioneers shot out Frankfort in a fast game. The visitors opened with Yasuda on the mound but after a base on balls and four hits that netted two runs in the first inning, York was sent in and finished the contest and kept his hit well centered. Alton was in perfect form and with beautiful support was clearly victorious. The score stood 3 to 0.

Thursday the Frankfort team went over to defeat the one of 3 to 0. G. K. Taylor, Jr. was the pitcher. The day before, Granger pitched masterly ball. The visitors, while Melvin suffered, bunched hits in the third that netted three runs.

Shelbyville broke the winning streak of the Pioneers Friday afternoon, winning by a score of 4 to 2. With perfect support on the mound for Richmond and allowed the visitors eight hits. He was invincible with the exception of the last inning, when he was out of the box. He gave the Millers four runs, a lead the Pioneers could not overcome. Harrell pitched excellent ball for the visitors and had the support of his team at all times. Shelbyville, overjoyed by their victory on Friday, started into Saturday's game with a determination to make a two straight in the series played on Friday. They were not disappointed. In the seventh inning the hits and five runs, having made one run in the first and three in the second, they scored eleven hits, but Wright for the visitors, kept his hit well centered.

Paris defeated the Pioneers Saturday by the score of two to three. Both Granger and Poles pitched fast ball. Granger, on account of his being taken from the Lexington Herald. The Pioneers in the opening inning scored three hits, but were unable to score. The visitors, on the other hand, scored eleven hits, but Wright for the visitors, kept his hit well centered.

New Consumption

Cure.

Denver Medical Claims That

Salt Is The Thing.

(Denver Times.)

Common table salt in solution is the method of treatment advocated by Dr. A. E. Disbrow, a Denver physician, in using upon tubercular cases in all stages.

Several cases of late have attracted attention from other physicians and some have visited Dr. Disbrow's patients to see for themselves just how favorably the treatment acts upon the patients, there having been some reports of seasonal improvements.

It is to verify these that the visits have been made.

The most remarkable report is that of the efforts of the salt solution upon the daughter of Cyrus A. Baker, of 1138 Clayton street. For one year Miss Baker was bedridden by a general tubercular affection, which finally caused abscesses upon her right wrist, her right ankle and on her side.

Three physicians were in attendance and it was finally decided, when intense pains began at the base of the brain, that amputation of the arm and foot was necessary to save her life. This Baker was told, would only prolong it for a time, as the condition was too general to be checked.

William E. Collett, Executive

Secretary of the Charity Organization Society who lived next door to the Bakers, has been treated by Dr.

Disbrow several years ago and attributes his present good health to the salt treatment. He urged Baker to try the method and the latter consented.

For five weeks Dr. Disbrow washed the wounds in the salt solution and injected it into the blood. The wound in the side had eaten away part of the young woman's ribs. At the end of that time the wounds had closed and Miss Baker had risen from bed for the first time in a year.

She has been visiting friends in the neighborhood for three weeks now without treatment. Dr. Disbrow has lately given her the salt solution again to help build up her physical condition, for he says this will come slowly and require several months.

Dr. Disbrow, its underfoot, claims that salt is nature's purifier of the blood and that if the blood is kept pure it will overcome and exterminate the bacilli of consumption.

Dr. Disbrow has a number of remarkable cases on his list, and for that reason a close watch will be kept to determine the value of his salt solution.

A Shortage of Stock.

This is a year when farmers need plenty of stock to avoid want, and at the same time stock was never scarcer.

Most of the wheat that has been beaten down or is straw fallen for want of timely cutting could be saved if hogs were plentiful to turn into the fields. Unfortunately, but few farmers have any of consequence. Grass and weeds abundant, but cattle to eat it are few in number. One farmer tells us that he is grazing export cattle at seventy-five cents per month and two-year olds, at fifty cents. This is no income on hundred dollar land, but it is the best that can be done under the circumstances. Winchester

City Was Right.

The Court of Appeals has upheld its opinion in the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company case. That city charged old life insurance companies one hundred dollars as a license fee and industrial companies fifty dollars. The company claimed the city had no right to make a difference between the higher court was there is a marked distinction and the city was within its rights in passing the law. A movement is on foot at Frankfort to charge a percentage on the business done instead of a straight license fee.
